ABSTRACT

The 16th annual bibliography contains 923 citations concerning collective bargaining and other employment and labor relations issues for faculty at institutions of higher education and other professionals. The new category, "AIDS in the Workplace" has been added this year while the topics of contracts and contract issues, elections, non-faculty, and retrenchment have been merged. Both computer and manual search methods were used to identify the citations which are comprised of books, monographs, dissertations, journals, periodicals, speeches, unpublished reports, and newspaper articles. Most of the citations were published in 1987. Citations are listed alphabetically by author under each topic. Part I, the Faculty Bibliography, has 39 topics including academic freedom, affirmative action, arbitration and mediation, comparable worth, discipline and dismissal, drug testing, faculty organizations, fringe benefits, grievance procedures, merit pay, quality of worklife, tenure, and women faculty. Part II comprises the Professions and Professionals Bibliography with five topics as follows: health care administration and institutions, health care professions, nurses, professions, and professional sports. Part III contains citations on information guides including other bibliographies and directories, resources, and periodicals. Also included are an author and subject index and a listing of acronyms and abbreviations. (DB)

NATIONAL CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING IN HIGHER EDUCATION AND THE PROFESSIONS

The National Center is an impartial, nonprofit educational institution serving as a clearinghouse and forum for those engaged in collective bargaining (and the related processes of grievance administration and arbitration) in colleges and universities and the professions. Operating on the campus of Baruch College, City University of New York, the Center addresses its research to scholars and practitioners in these fields.

Membership consists of institutions and individuals from all regions of the United States and Canada. Activities are financed primarily by membership, conference and workshop fees, foundation grants, and income from various services and publications made available to members and the public.

Inquiries regarding membership, publication or research orders should be addressed to National Center for the Study of Collective Bargaining in Higher Education and the Professions, Baruch College, CUNY, 17 Lexington Avenue, Box 322, New York, New York 10010.

INTRODUCTION

The bibliography of the National Center, Collective Bargaining in Higher Education and the Professions, continues to be recognized as a major source of research material available to those who study and practice in the field of collective bargaining in higher education and other professions. The Bibliography stands as a "statement for the record" and when viewed as a part of the complete series, volumes 1-16, documents the historical development and growth of collective bargaining in higher education. This compilation of citations includes employment and labor relations issues for faculty as well as other professionals.

Each year as we prepare the Bibliography, we add or remove subject areas according to the availability of articles on a given topic. This provides some barometer of the level of emphasis in any particular area. During the past year a good deal has been written on the impact of AIDS on employment relationships, both in the university and in other employment settings. This has prompted us to add the category, "AIDS in the Workplace", to our Bibliography subjects. The pausity of articles on contracts and contract issues, elections, non-faculty, and retrenchment has caused us to merge the few articles found under other headings. These subjects may reappear in later editions.

The methodology used in the compilation of this volume includes both computer and manual retrieval. Key word computer searches of labor relations and education indices, supplemented by a manual search through thousands of articles for fugitive documents not included in data bases, were done to make this volume as complete as possible. Bibliography citations are comprised of books, monographs, dissertations, journals, periodicals, speeches, unpublished reports, and newspaper articles.

The Bibliography is part of the annual publication series of the National Center, which includes in addition, the Directory of Faculty Contracts and Bargaining Agents in Institutions of Higher Education, Proceedings of our annual conference, a Newsletter which comes out four times a year, and occasional monographs. Our most recent monograph is Sex Discrimination in Higher Education and the Professions: An Annotated Bibliography.

The National Center, a research institute of Baruch College, City University of New York, is a neutral, impartial research organization serving as a clearinghouse and forum for those engaged in collective bargaining in higher education and the professions.

Beth Hillman Johnson, the Administrative Coordinator of the Center researched and managed the preparation of this volume with the assistance of Jasmine Tata, a graduate assistant of the Center. The inputting and production was done by Ruby Hill, the Center's Administrative Assistant.

While we believe that this publication is accurate with respect to citations, titles and other bibliographic information, we apologize for any errors or omissions which might have occurred. As always, we welcome feedback from you, the reader. This Bibliography is a team project. To those who have taken part in contributing to its success, I deeply appreciate your efforts.
